America's Obsession With Untruths Independent thinking finally exposed

Unfortunately, society has a phobia for independent thinking. So many people grasp concepts offered by closed minded individuals. Author Chris G. Valliancourt exposes the truth hidden inside everyday issues in his latest book A Yellow Sunshine Night.

“Picture yourself living in darkness,” Mr. Valliancourt asks. “In truth we all live under one shade of darkness or another.” He goes on to explain his views on society as we know it as very much a society of conformity.

A Yellow Sunshine Night is a collection of poetry that represents a glimpse into possibilities. Answering the questions: What would happen if we began to think? How would we view ourselves and the world around us if we open our minds? What would happen if the darkness of the night is suddenly, wonderfully illuminated with the yellow sunshine of reality?

Chris G. Vaillancourt holds a BA in psychology from the University Of Windsor, and a Diploma in Sacerdotal Ministry from Saint Andrews Theological Institute. He is also the author of several books including Teardrop of Coloured Soul and I Walk Naked Into A Cloud.

A Yellow Sunshine Night is scheduled for release April 27, 2010. ISBN: 978-0-9818529-4-2
